POST NO. 1 NEWS & VIEWS

COMMANDER'S MESSAGE

Comrades,

We are well into the New Year. I hope that everyone had a joyous holiday season. We did have another successful New Year's Eve celebration at the Post. Bingo was well attended. A big thank you to all of the Post and Auxiliary members who made this possible.

Remember the cabin drawing takes place at the February meeting. Price remains at $300.00 for 2016 and will increase to $325.00 for 2017. Paul Kasner, cabin committee chair, will keep the reservations open for post members through the end of February. After that he will solicit reservations from other posts. Our two cabins are a truly magnificent resource. Beautiful surroundings away from everyday pressures. I have been using the cabins(s) for about 55 years and I cherish my many memories of the time spent with family and friends.

Returning to the subject of our New Years Eve's bingo, we have a real need for volunteers for many functions in the New Year. Bingo helps to pay the bills. The $5.00 a year per member a year that we get from dues doesn't go far. We have a real and desperate need for help. Dave Saunder, a regular volunteer, is out after a second ear surgery at the VA. Occasionally another volunteer or two need a break for vacations or other obligations. We have sit down jobs available. All we need is your time. Four or five hours is all its takes. A few hours if you can only help out one of the two sessions.

On the same subject, I hope that everyone is giving thought to how to help with our five day run of The Moving Wall™ over the Labor Day weekend.

We just cannot keep depending on the same 6-10 members to pull everyone's weight. I would like to acknowledge Jim Heimann, Danny O'Tool, Charlie Hargan, Chris Yatcheck, David Ball, Dave Sauder, Amy Keller, Henry Eder, and his auxiliary posse's Greta, Mary, and Bette. Many hands make light work. Remember meetings are now at 7pm, executive board at 6pm. Light refreshments after the meeting.

Our Annual Post Banquet will take place April 9th starting at 5:30pm with cocktails and dinner at 6:30pm. With a program and speaker to follow. Reservations should be in by April 1, 2016. The cost is $8 per person for the meal or $12 per couple. Join us in making this another successful event.

Germantown Associated Bank Salutes Veterans in a Special Way

The Associated Bank in Germantown had a contest between their branches over their Veterans Day Lobby Display and the Germantown branch won. They were kind enough to then donate their winnings to our Post. We thank them kindly for such a generous donation!

Kudos to a Germantown Family for Paying-it-Forward

Laura Backes had contacted our post in the fall of 2015 and mentioned that she and her family, Stephen and Brooklyn Backes, would like to stop by and drop off some items she wanted to donate to military and/or Veterans as part of her own personal “Laura’s paying it forward project.” We were proud to accept two boxes full of toiletry items and help to distribute them to the Milwaukee VA Medical Center, where they would be greatly appreciated. We asked Laura what brought this idea on and here is what she had to say.

“...I have decided to do a “Laura’s paying it forward project” for the next year. I chose an item and area to drop off to those in need. I’m very honored to say that just last month, I had gotten a total of 5 boxes full of toiletry items for military and the local Joy House. My goal is to help those in need by putting a smile on everyone’s face. I know nothing is ever too small and this is something that can make their lives better. I am blessed to help.”

HOT TOPIC!

Flag Etiquette & Clothing – What’s Your Opinion?

This past Veterans Day, I came to the Post sporting a rather patriotic scarf for our Post event. It had stars and stripes similar to the photo above. And with the dark outfit I was wearing, this scarf really stood out. It wasn't until the end of the social gathering, that someone came up to me and pointed out that my scarf broke the flag code etiquette. To be honest, I didn't realize such a thing existed for clothing. The flag yes, but not for clothing. As this person walked away, it really got me thinking, so I decided to look into this a bit. Below is what I found, which is probably not new to most of you reading this.

FLAG ETIQUETTE

STANDARDS of RESPECT

(Taken directly from: www.usflag.org)

The Flag Code, which formalizes and unifies the traditional ways in which we give respect to the flag, also contains specific instructions on how the flag is not to be used. They are:

- The flag should never be dipped to any person or thing. It is flown upside down only as a distress signal.
- The flag should not be used as a drapery, or for covering a speakers desk, draping a platform, or for any decoration in general. Bunting of blue, white and red stripes is available for these purposes. The blue stripe of the bunting should be on the top.
- The flag should never be used for any advertising purpose. It should not be embroidered, printed or otherwise impressed on such articles as cushions, handkerchiefs, napkins, boxes, or anything intended to be discarded after temporary use. Advertising signs should not be attached to the staff or halyard
- The flag should not be used as part of a costume or athletic uniform, except that a flag patch may be used on the uniform of military personnel, fireman, policeman and members of patriotic organizations.
- The flag should never have placed on it, or attached to it, any mark, insignia, letter, word, number, figure, or drawing of any kind.
- The flag should never be used as a receptacle for receiving, holding, carrying, or delivering anything.

When the flag is lowered, no part of it should touch the ground or any other object; it should be received by waiting hands and arms. To store the flag it should be folded neatly and ceremoniously.

The flag should be cleaned and mended when necessary.

When a flag is so worn it is no longer fit to serve as a symbol of our country, it should be destroyed by burning in a dignified manner.

After searching out a few opinions on this very topic, here are some blog/conversations I cam across...

BLOG #1

Person one: My friend says the only “real” flag is embroidered stars and stitched stripes. Printed flags are replicas and not subject to US Flag code for handling.

Person two: I’m afraid that your friend is wrong. The flag is defined by what it looks like, not what it’s made of. An American flag is an American flag, whether it’s printed, sewn or painted.

There is an interesting issue concerning representations of the flag on materials other than cloth. For example, the flag code refers to flag lapel pins as “replicas.” It seems to me that, in general, common sense should prevail. Both actual flags and “replicas” should be treated with respect because they are symbols of our nation. The flag code is a set of guidelines, not some kind of holy writ.

BLOG #2

I got to thinking yesterday, working the 4th of July on the Mall, why are there so many people wearing flag hats, shirts, bandanas, etc? I just assumed they were trying their best to show their patriotism on our nation’s birthday. I’ve always felt this was crass and pushy so I did some research on the flag code.

Am I wrong or does this fly in the face of the ubiquitous Old Navy t-shirts and the like? I know these folks are doing their best to show their patriotism but in essence are actually succeeding in doing just the opposite. Is this just not a big deal?

As one might imagine, I came across many blog conversations and opinions just like these, in regards to the flag and standards of respect. To be honest, I was glad someone said something to me. It made me really stop and think about what “Old Glory” truly means to me and how I can better respect her, and every single person who has fought to defend our flag and our freedoms. And although I won’t get a ticket from the flag police if I wear my scarf again, I realize it’s because of our flag that I’m able to wear my scarf as I see fit. Therefore, I will do my part in respecting “Old Glory” the red, white, and blue, the most powerful symbol of our nation

My question to you now is, what is your opinion on flag Flag Etiquette & Clothing? I’d love to hear your opinions, Please email them to me, LisaLegionPost1@yahoo.com.

AUXILIARY MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

Auxiliary Unit No. 321, Germantown

The American Legion Auxiliary is a volunteer organization whose primary purpose is to support our American Legion Post members as well as earn money we can use to support our programs throughout the year.

On any given Thursday when the American Legion Post 1 opens for the public to come and play Bingo, you will find a group of hard working volunteers who arrive at the Post early to get everything set-up and ready for the fun to begin and stay late to make sure everything is cleaned up and back in order.

These ladies bake desserts every week and take them to the Post for sale to the bingo players. Hank Eder, veteran and chief cook, volunteers every week to come and make sandwiches for the Auxiliary to sell with their desserts and popcorn. They are always there with a smile and kind word to everyone who comes to play bingo and support our veterans. Week after week they are at the Post and ready to go. Without them we would not be able to serve all the veterans and others who come out to have a good time. The time these auxiliary members spend volunteering is what supports us financially and allows us the opportunity to give back to the community.

A big thank you to all of them for their dedication to our Veteran's through many hours of their own donated time.
